Fairfield, New Jersey - Parker Laboratories, the premier provider of medical ultrasound and electromedical contact media, has announced it has expanded its warehouse operation, allowing the company to accommodate growth and more efficiently meet its customer's needs.

Driven by ever-growing customer demand and the need for a more efficient warehousing solution to support their manufacturing services, Parker will expand to a new warehouse in Roseland, NJ. The new facility adds an additional 28,000 square feet, will accommodate the majority of shipping and warehouse services and will also provide for future growth going forward.

"We are extremely pleased with the growth necessitating this expansion," said Parker Laboratories President Neal Buchalter. "This facility will provide some much needed operating space, enable us to improve service levels and allow for continued growth in all aspects of our business."
